

Evidence-Based Products to Improve Lives

Growing awareness of dementia and Alzheimer's disease has more adults seeking meaningful ways to exercise their brains and support cognitive health. Happy People Forever designs experiences that enrich life for individuals living with memory loss, as well as their families, friends, and caregivers. Grounded in neuroscience and psychosocial principles and brought to life through engaging game mechanics, our apps – Timeless Tunes and Still Frames – spark memories, encourage creativity and co-creation, and foster joyful connection that eases isolation and restores dignity.

“I honestly love the app and use it
[with my residents] daily.”

Still Frames™ allows users to play with their memories, life stories, thoughts and ideas. This turn-based product allows families, friends and caregivers to offer prompts to engage with them in-person or remotely. Patients can add their own wisdom and images into a shared database.

Timeless Tunes™ challenges users to name a hit song from the 50s to 70s, listening to a limited number of song riffs, with or without visual clues. This product can also be turn-based: users and families, friends & caregivers can create challenges in-person or remotely.

“I really enjoyed the opportunity to play a little bit of [Timeless Tunes] and I absolutely adore it. It’s really so much fun... It’s a bonding thing and an intergenerational bonding thing”

Virge Randall
Managing Editor, Senior Planet, from AARP

Music Matters

The products are designed to improve life experiences for patients, families, friends and caregivers. Reduce Caregiver Burden

Both of these games are designed to increase interaction and engagement between patients, families, friends and caregivers. By harnessing positive visual and auditory memories, these games create connections and shared moments amongst users that can help mitigate loneliness, depression and anxiety.
